TAMI and Office Tenants Continue to Flock to Space 530

New York – November 5, 2018 – Two high-profile companies committed to Space 530, Midtown Manhattan’s premier, full-service private office space and co-working environment. Over the past few years, Space 530 has become the main hub for new and expanding technology, creative and fashion tenants.

Centri Business Consulting, a prominent finance and consulting services firm has also committed to Space 530 and will house a New York City hub location at the site. The company also has offices in Philadelphia, PA and Englewood, CO.
