

Syska Hennessy Group's Richmond, Va. Office's Healthcare Practice Flourishing

Office Growth Reflects Commitment to High Performance Design for Regional Healthcare Facilities

Richmond, VA (May 24, 2016) – The Richmond, Va. office of Syska Hennessy Group, Inc., a global consulting, engineering and commissioning firm, continues to enjoy significant growth, primarily through the expansion of its healthcare practice and expertise.

Led by Associate Partner James Willis, PE, the office retains a team of engineers with deep roots in the Richmond market, who are valued by clients for their expertise in a variety of practice areas. A market leader for critical facility work in central Virginia since 2004, the Richmond office has increased in size and scope by taking on a number of new high-profile projects in the region over the last two years, particularly in healthcare. This market's development translates into an office growth of over 60% in 2015, and projected growth of more than 70% in 2016, due in part to their enhanced market share in the local healthcare sector.

The local healthcare market in Virginia remains strong and there has been a built-up demand for facility infrastructure updates. Syska's Richmond office has capitalized on this opportunity, and leads the charge on local projects including facility expansion and renovations at Mary Washington Hospital, the University of Virginia Hospital, Augusta Medical Center, and the Riverside Health Center, among others. The company's reputation has blossomed, and by virtue of its strong work performance and execution of on-time and on-budget projects, it has become the clear choice for clients in the region.

"The Richmond office is proud of its growth and we are excited about what the future holds for our location and the region," notes Mr. Willis. "The healthcare market has undergone many changes over the last few years and we have been able to respond quickly and adapt to these changes. Our healthcare system clients rely on us to create new and contemporary facilities that improve efficiencies as well as patient care and overall experience."

"The know-how and professionalism of everyone on our team has allowed us to respond to any project challenges," added James Regan, senior principal and geographical practice leader, "and it has put us in a position to help our clients succeed in this market."
