

NYC Commercial Real Estate Leaders Help Launch American Heart Association's 2023 Heart of New York City Campaign

(November 4, 2022) New York City commercial real estate powerhouses Bruce Mosler, Global Brokerage Chairman of Cushman & Wakefield (left) and Joseph Simone (center), President and CEO of Simone Development Companies, one of the region's leading healthcare and commercial real estate developers, joined American Heart Association Executive Director and Senior Vice President Meg Gilmartin and other long-time AHA supporters Rose Caiola, Principal of Bettina Equities Company, and David Chubak, Head of Wealth Management at Edward Jones, at a VIP reception kicking off the American Heart Association's 2023 Heart of New York City campaign held recently at the 48 Lounge in Manhattan.

"Simone Development Companies enthusiastically supports the American Heart Association's efforts to create a world free of heart disease and stroke, the leading causes of death worldwide," said Mr. Simone in pledging the firm's support of the AHA. "We look forward to collaborating with the American Heart Association to promote research, education, and health equity."
